G. SHAW,

Respectfully informs the public, he has received from

ROBERT JOHNSTON,

Apothecary, No. 20, Green street, Soho, London, a fresh and very considerable supply of his highly esteemed Medicine.

AWARE of the depredations made on every public medicine of established repute and extensive sale, R. Johnston, obtained the King of England's Patent for his invention, not "to recommend" but "to distinguish," Whitehead's Essence of Mustard from

SPURIOUS IMITATIONS.

"Five years have now elapsed since Mr. Johnston first made known to the world this very extraordinary medicine; during this short period, its efficacy has been so clearly demonstrated that its sale has far exceeded any former example; comparitively there are few families in England or the United States which have not either heard of or experienced its beneficial effects and with heartfelt satisfaction he had the happiness to declare Whitehead's Essence of Mustard has cured more persons afflicted with Rheumatisms, Gout, Lumbago, Palsy, Complaints of the Stomach and other Painful Maladies.

Than all the Medicines ever before made public, indeed, the instances, of its efficacy and letters of acknowledgment from "the most respectable characters" are so numerous that a large volume could not possibly contain them; it has also obtained the approbation of the most eminent men of the faculty and is honoured by the use and recommendation of the first families in England, Ireland and America.

A COUNTERFEIT.

R. JOHNSTON has reason to believe a large quantity under the name of "Improved Essence of Mustard," as well as many others has been shipped for America, and considers it his duty to prevent imposition and disappointment.

He therefore requests the afflicted to be particular in the purchase of his bottles, boxes, labels, and bill of directions which are closely copied, and words "by royal authority," artfully substituted for the words "by the king's patent" which may elude common observation.

The Genuine is distinguished by the signature of R. Johnston, in his own hand writing on each label, and as an additional security is further signed on the outside wrapper by his only agent for the United States, G. SHAW, No. 129 Chesnut street, Philadelphia, by whom it is sold wholesale and retail, in pills and in a fluid state at one dollar each, box or bottle

FOR CHILBLAINS, SPRAINS AND BRUISES,

It is a certain and effectual remedy, seldom requiring more than three or four applications.

To the candid and liberal of the FACULTY, R. Johnston respectfully submits the following observations. The Fluid Essence of Mustard, is an embrocation worthy their particular attention, it differs in its nature from all others, and is out of the beaten tract of general practice—It is an active stimulant, easily controuled; may be either increased or diminished in its strength by the different methods of use, it is both elegant and convenient and is frequently found in the extemporaneous prescriptions of their brethren in England.

The above Genuine Medicine, as well as many others of the first celibrity may be had by appointment of G. Shaw, of Mr. G. Bailey, Wilmington, Dr. Barrill, Maiden Lane, New-York, Messrs. Bailey and Walker, Charleston, William Black, Salem, (N. J.) Charles Hunitch, Lancaster, A. C. Jorden, Norfolk, John Roberts, do. David Keen, Sweet Springs, Virginia, R. Lee, Baltimore, I. & J. Mantz, Fredericktown, Maryland, G. W. Mancius, Albany, Dr. Vanfolingen, New-York, Messrs. Tirford & Son, do. Messrs. Ross & Douglas, Pittsburg, John Webster, Wilmington, James Wilson, do. Richard Winter & Co. Savannah, and in every principal town in the United States.

N.B. The public are desired to enquire for Whitehead's Essence of Mustard, all others being a base and spurious imitation.

GEO. SHAW.

129, Chesnut street, where Venders may be supplied.

"Caution against Counterfeits."

Agents are appointed by G. Shaw in every principal town of the United States, and there is no certainty of purchasing the Genuine Essence of Mustard in any part of America, unless it is signed on the outside wrapper by G. Shaw, No. 129, Chesnut street, Philadelphia, where shopkeepers are supplied and a liberal discount allowed them.

"For the workman is worthy of his meat."

IF there be such a personage as Truth, this assertion certainly belongs to her family, for what can be more just, than that a vintager should eat some at least of those grapes which he had planted and watered.

But, judging from the practice of the world, at the present time, one would think my text was grown obsolete and that its principle was unrecognized. In the shambles there is always meat enough, but how little is bestowed upon workmen. Parasites, Buffoons, Fidlers, Equestrians, French Philosophers and Speculators gormandize; but I see Merit, that excellent workman that needeth not to be ashamed, as lank and as lean as my old tabby cat who has had nothing to eat but church mice for a year.

Though I am not saluted a brother, by any legitimate parson, and belong to no Ministerial association on earth, yet I cherish great respect, and feel a cordial regard for the established clergy. I consider them, with few exceptions, as faithful workmen; they make us moral, they instruct our youth, they lead sober and peaceable lives.

"Along the cool, sequestered vale of life,
They keep the noiseless tenor of their way."

They are wise, they are amiable men. I wish I could speak half so fervently in praise of another learned profession. But though, they are ignorant of foolish questions and "strivings about the law," they understand perfectly the great rules of life. Such men therefore are worthy of their meat, and should be liberally provided. They labor much, few men labor more; they are compelled to exercise not only the head, but the the hands. The private farm as well as the gospel vineyard claims their care. When the drudgery of the year is done; when numerous sermons have been composed, and numerous sick chambers visited, when they have been in watchings and weariness often, what meat will the benevolence of a parish bestow? Verily a morsel. A beggarly pittance called a salary; and that pittance scantily and grudgingly paid. When I visit a village covered with stores and shops, and cultivated by opulent farmers, when I hear the inhabitants boast of their flourishing circumstances and recount how many bushels of wheat they threshed last year, and how well it sold, if I should be informed that their Parson's annual stipend is but sixty pounds, in despite of all their boasted riches and ostentation I should think them unworthy to enter a church.

If I should repair to any place, where men congregate, and describe to them one, who, in an hour of jeopardy, had quitted his hearth, travelled many wearisome miles, been exposed to sickly air, been shot at for hours, and frequently without a crust or a draught to supply the waste of nature: If I should add that all this peril was sustained that we at home should live in security, not one of my audience, provided Speculators and Bloodsuckers were not of the number, would deny that the OLD Soldier was a worthy workman. But where is his meat? Oh, my good sir, do not propose that question in a Republic; you know that a Republic is never bounteous. Belisarius's ask for their obolus here, as well as at Rome. But here the business ends. They receive in Great Britain, and elsewhere. You might as soon expect moderation in a Frenchman, or knowledge of Belleslettres in a country attorney, as that a Commonwealth should be grateful.

THE LAY PREACHER.

A POPISH MIRACLE.

IN Naples there happened in a great siege it endured, that the governor made order that every man should be put to death, being above such an age, that did not wear a sword. Not long after, as he was riding through the streets to see how well his order was put in execution, he espied a gentleman without one, and commanded him to be brought before him: the order was read, and he condemned to die the death appointed, which was to be hung at the next sign-post. The gentleman after he had pleaded several things in his own defence, which availed him nothing, desired the favor that he might not die so ignominiously, but that the next gentleman that passed might run him through with his sword. The request being reasonable, was granted, and the execution delayed upon these terms. It happened that a young gallant was coming from a gaming house, who having lost all, even so much as the blade of his sword, which was good merchandize at the time, did not dare, in regard to the severe order, to go home until a wooden-one was fitted to the handle. This gentleman was stopped and the dying man's case laid open; but this ingenious person, knowing his own insufficiency, what, says he, must I be a common executioner; must I stain my hands with blood without passion and be a reproach to all men? but this argument would not do, kill him he must; then putting off his cloak, he began a payer to this effect: "thou who seest all our transgressions here below, judge thou I pray thee, and vindicate the cause of those who suffer wrong: in a special manner grant if this man here ought not to die, this sword may be turned into wood." Then drawing it forth, it appeared to be wood! and the dying gentleman was immediately released with abundance of joy. The wooden sword was carried with great solemnity to the Cathedral Church, as a proper link in the chain of Popish miracles.

ELEGANT EXTRACT.

From Dr. Lathrop's late National Fast Sermon.

THE enemies of religion, and the enemies of our Government, are uncommonly busy.—The patriot and the Christian therefore are called to uncommon watchfulness and exertion

All who love their country will unite in opposing such principles as appear to be subversive of all religion—all rational government and all order in society. With respect to such principles, we can have no difference of opinion. Nor can any good American question the propriety of preparing a defence against all the secret and open enemies of our rights and liberties.

It is the wish of the American people, to be at peace with all the world; and it is certain our Government has watched every opportunity, and through its Envoys, submitted to humiliating circumstances, to remove, if possible, all grounds of uneasiness, and establish permanent tranquility with the French nation. The late appointment is a fresh and striking evidence of a pacific disposition, even when the aggression, and continued injustice on the part of the French, leaves little or no prospect of an accommodation. It is right to shew, on our part, that we are ready to meet the first movements that may be made towards a reconciliation. At the same time it is right to guard effectually against the arts and subtility of such as may seek an advantage over us.

I have now endeavoured to deliver to you my sentiments with the freedom and independence of an American and a christian. You who were on the stage of action, when the liberties of our country were invaded by the British Government, will do me the justice to say, I was not bashful in those times.

In those times I had friends—I had valuable friends, who were offended at the part I took, and the support which I endeavoured to give to the American interest; but while I loved my friends, I loved my country more.

I now have friends, who are offended, because I endeavour to aid the cause of my country against the French, as I did thirty years ago against the English: I love those friends—I have been in habits of intimacy with some of them: but I love my country more.

While I have breath, I will not cease to pray for the peace and prosperity of my country—May all those prosper who love thee!

Nor do I think it is at all inconsistent with my character as a christian minister, to call upon my fellow citizens, to put themselves in a posture of defence; and to play the man, for their cities and their fields, for their wives and their children, for their rights and their liberties, when invaded by their enemies.

While the passions of men remain as they are the nations of the earth will be subject to wars and tumult.

VERGENNES, May 9.

R. G. Harper's letter contains much information on many important subjects of national concern. In it is this sentence: "The saving made, by our defensive measures, in the article of insurance alone, without calculating the diminution of captures, the benefits resulting from the encreased spirit and activity of commerce, and the consequent rise in the price of produce, is sufficient, in one year, to pay for the whole naval armament, which has produced this effect, to support it for a year, to build six ships of the line, and to build and support six 18 gun sloops." He proceeds to state, that, 'supposing "the protection to be afforded by it, in its perfect state, be only as efficacious as that now derived from the part of it, which is actually in service, this protection will pay for the expence and leave a balance of five millions annually to the nation." It were to be wished that members of Congress, in imitation of Mr. Harper, would be a little more communicative to their constituents, would develope more the motives of administration, and exhibit to the uninformed the reasons for adopting their several measures.

M. Lyon has written a letter to the Govenor of Kentucky, informing him that he was preparing to remove into that state, and should bring with him a thousand families from Vermont. The passage of the great beast and his whelps to that land of paddyism would be a curious spectacle for the citizens of the northern and middle states. To drain this state of one thousand families of his followers might be a clear saving of as many halters to this commonwealth, as well as much expence to towns in providing for the poor; taking up vagrants, would save the girdling of orchards, and still leave in the state as much good order, morality and piety as though no such departure had ever happened! Such an addition to Kentucky must be very interesting, and give new support to future resolutions in their legislature.—Quackery is become prevalent, among the lowest class of people in some parts of this state. Last Monday night a poor man, by the name of A. Crigger dreamed he had an excrescence growing upon his arm. A negro quack by the name of Commodore, boasting that he could effect a cure, was rashly employed by the unfortunate victim. On Saturday preceding his death, he operated; cut off 7 pounds of the flesh from his arm. A mortification, we are told, was the consequence, and in about two days, the cure was completed in the issue above described. The same negro, not long since, effected a similar cure of a woman in Ferrisburgh in case of a dropsy. A few such instances may serve to convince people of the necessity of employing well informed surgeons and physicians instead of ignorant pretenders. Such quacks are to the natural body what ignorant jacobins are to the body politic,

NEW-YORK, May 22.

Yesterday arrived the ship Betsey, commodore Carbery, of 18 guns, and ship Factor, capt. Farrell, of 10 guns, from Liverpool, which place they sailed from on the 29th March, in company with ten sail of American vessels.

On Tuesday May 14, in lat. 36, 57, long. 8, 73, the Betsey and Factor fell in with the English Letter of Marque ship Arethusa captain Moffat, of London, in great distress, having lost her mainmast, and all her top masts, and scarce a bit of canvass on the ship with both her pumps going for 35 days, and scarcely any provisions on board.

Capt. Carberry hoisted out his boat, and went along the Arathusa, when her crew insisted on leaving the ship; but through the the spirited conduct of captain C. he prevailon them to stick by her, assuring them that he would send them relief—Captains Carberry and Farrell, bound themselves to stay by the ship until she arrived safe in port, and assist her in provisions; and the Betsey has had her in tow for eight days past, until she entered Sandy Hook.

The Arethusa sailed from Portsmouth on the 20th of November last, for Philadelphia, but meeting with bad weather, was obliged to put into Lisbon, from whence she sailed on the 19th March.

The Arethusa is laden with warlike stores for the use of the United States, consisting of 500 tons of cannon, 15,000 stand of arms, 300 boxes sheathing copper, officers' swords, dirks, &c. and a quantity of gunpowder.—She is valued at £.50,000 sterling.

☞ Captain MOFFAT, of the ship Arethusa, returns his most grateful acknowledgments to captains Carberry and Farrell, for their humane and generous exertions in preserving his vessel.

By com. Carberry, arrived yesterday, we have received London papers to the 27th of March inclusive. An arrival at Boston has brought news as late as the following; but we have made several selections from our papers which do not appear via Boston. Further extracts to-morrow.

LATE FROM EUROPE.

RASTADT, March 11.

Count Lerbach leaves this to day, and has obtained passports from the French ministers. In the event of the Congress continuing its deliberations, it is stated he will return. The family of the Elector of Bavaria has arrived at Munich—Baron Hompesch is his new prime minister. All in the Duchy of Wirtemberg tranquil.

RATISBON, March 10.

The votes respecting the march of the Russian troops proceed slowly, and in decided opposition to the wishes of France. The Hon. Mr. Paget, the English minister at Munich, arrived here on the 8th and returned this day. The manifesto of the Archduke Charles, has been presented to the Diet, as also the following proclamation of Gen. Massena, which was accompanied by a note, transmitted through the congress of Rastadt, from the French ministers there—in which they notify the steady and sincere wishes of the French government to make peace with the German Empire, provided the Diet at Ratisbon shall declare itself adverse to the march of the Russian troops. The following is the Proclamation:

Massena, Commander in Chief of the French army in Helvetia, to the Grisons.

"PEOPLE OF THE GRISONS,

"The enemies of your independence have called in a foreign power to support their tyranny, the friends of your liberty claim, in their turn, the assistance of the French Republic, the army I have the honor to command is coming to second your wishes; their sole design is to restore you again to yourselves, the moment the court of Vienna shall restore you again to your independence, and declare that it will send no more troops in your country, the French army shall evacuate your territory, during their stay, individual liberty, property, political and religious opinions shall be inviolably respected.

And you French soldiers, who are summoned to restore liberty to the people of the Grisons, you know the intentions of your Government and that of your generals; respect a people that will be freed by you; and by your conduct teach and convince them that a rigid discipline and the respect of the right and property of nations, is the peculiar characteristic of the French armies.

(Signed) MASSENA."

STRASBURGH, March 11.

According to the latest accounts from the army of Jourdan, its centre has reached Moeskirch. The right wing has passed through Stockach, and the left, had turned from Fruedenstadt towards Rothweil, and will not (in consequence of the occurrences in Switzerland) march through Rothenburg and Tubingen as was ordered. A considerable quantity of artillery daily passes the Kneibis.

FRANKFORT, March 12.

The works of Manheim were so incompletely blown up by the Palatines, that General Barnadotte has been enabled to restore them to nearly their former consequence, the French troops have not entered Stutgarit: but general St. Cyr, dined with the Duke there.

The Commander of Phillipsburg has verbally agreed with Gen. Barnadotte, that no hostilities shall take place on either side until orders are received from their respective Governments. Gen. New has lost his head quarters at Schwetzingen.

GERMANY.

Letter from the French minister Alquier to Baron Hompesch, dated Munich, February 12 1799.

MR. BARON,

I am informed, that on the 22d inſtant, (Feb. 10,) Mr. Paget, the King of England's Miniſter, ſaid to the Circle, at the Court of his Electoral Highneſs, "That he had it for certain, that Citizen Trouve was employed by order of the Directory of France in revolutioniſing the States of the Duke of Wirtembergh: that I correſponded upon the ſubject with the Miniſter; and that in concert with him, I was labouring to excite troubles in Bavaria." To this abſurdity I oppoſe the dignity of the Executive Directory, and the wiſdom and loyalty of their Miniſter at Stutgard. With reſpect to what is perſonal to myſelf, I ſhall not deſcend ſo far as to juſtify myſelf: I appeal from this ſcandalous reflection upon my conduct, to the eſteem which his Electoral Highneſs and his Miniſters have for me—and to the public, whoſe good opinion I think I have deſerved. Yet as I owe to a declaration made by a Foreign Miniſter before the whole Court, a clear and preciſe reply, it is as follows—"I give the moſt formal contradiction to the author of this lying aſſertion." I entreat you, M. Baron, to accept the aſſurances of my high conſideration.

[Signed] ALQUIER.

P. S. What I have juſt written to you, M. Baron, I ſhould have had the honour to ſay to his Electoral Highneſs, if circumſtances had permitted me to be preſented to him. I hope that you will communicate my letter to the Prince.

STRASBURG, March 5.

Jourdan's head quarters were yeſterday moved from Gengenbach to Heſslach. The left wing marched by the Kniehis into the country of Wurtemberg; the center by the valley of Kiuzig, to Villingen, Rottweil, and from thence towards the Danube. The right wing by the valley of Hell and the Foreſt Towns.

The French have it is ſaid, occupied the city of Conſtance. The Auſtrians have not, as yet, made any movement to oppoſe the march of our troops.

PARIS, March 11.

Accounts from hence, of the 16th ult. ſtate that M. Mocenigo, the Ruſſian Miniſter at the Court of the Grand Duke, had notified to that Government that the Emperor Paul I had engaged to ſuccour the King of Naples, and to furniſh him with the means of reaſcending his Throne. M. Mocenigo loſt no time to ſignify this pleaſing intelligence to his Neopolitan Majeſty at Palermo. The Ruſſian troops are to be landed at Otranto.

LONDON, March 26.

It is a remarkable, but a pleaſant truth, that out of 1103 children laſt year in Chriſt's Hoſpital, only eleven died.

The Oxfordſhire militia are on their route from Colcheſter barracks for Portſmouth, where they are to embark for Ireland. The firſt diviſion halted yeſterday at Romford.—Colonel Gore Langton embarks with them.

The Dictator of 64 guns, and two frigates are to carry the Cambridgſhire and Oxfordſhire militia to the Cove of Cork; the two regiments muſter 2,400 rank and file.

The Earl of Harwicke does not go with his Cambridgeſhire regiment to Ireland; the command of which devolves, therefore, on the Lieutenant Colonels York and Nightingale.

Monſieur, the brother of Louis XVIII. and ſeveral French Noblemen went to the Edinburgh Theatre on Tueſday ſe'nnight, to ſee Mr. John Kemble play Hamlet. A box was fitted up for their reception on the ſide of the ſtage, and they were accompanied by Lord Adam Gordon, commander in chief of the forces in Scotland.

A private letter from Dublin, of March 21, ſays—The buſineſs done in the Houſe of Lords, and in the Houſe of Commons, this evening, was merely routine, and not worth reporting. On Monday his excellency gives the royal aſſent to the ſeveral Bills, but whether adjournment or prorogation immediately follows, I cannot tell.

March 27.

The ſupplies which the French have thrown into Malta, conſiſt of 1300 quintals of corn, 1000 of hay, 1000 quintals of ſalt beef, 40 barrels of beef, 30 tons of red wine, 15 tons of vinegar, 29 large caſks of brandy, 6 barrels of ſuperfine oil, 1500 quintals of firewood, 4000 pair of ſhoes, beſides Cheeſe, vegetables, &c.

The flight of the King of Naples, it is now ſaid, was in conſequence, not of diſloyalty or tumults in Naples, but of diſaffection and deſertion in his army. General Mack wrote to him from Capua, that of 40,000 men with whom he entered the Roman territory, 12,000 only remained, and that they were daily crumbling away, by going over to the French. It was plain, he ſaid, that a ſecret underſtanding exiſted between the enemy and his troops, for no ſooner had his officers joined the French, than they were preſented with commiſſions, and appointed to offices of truſt. This example had ſo completely corrupted his army, that he aſſured the King he could place no dependence on them. Upon receiving this melancholy advice, the King of Naples held a Council to determine on the courſe to be purſued. The Lazzaroni had ſhewn a firm attachment to the Royal Family, and their loyalty remained unſhaken; upon the firſt accounts of the reverſes the Neapolitan army had experienced, they offered to march for the defence of the kingdom; but it was thought more politic to keep them as a protection to the capital. In this dilemma to which the King was now reduced, it was deemed imprudent to truſt to the defence they could make againſt the French army, and it was decided that the Royal Family ſhould embark for Palermo.

It was not till this determination was known the ſpirits of the loyal ſunk, and the French party openly triumphed. Every man now conſidered of accommodating himſelf to the approaching change, of making his peace with the advocates of Republicaniſm, and providing for his own ſafety. And ſuch is the appearance which the governing and active party can give to the public opinion, that a few hours ſeemed to have changed the people of Naples from devoted Royaliſts, to furious Republicans. The former ſhrunk from view, and the latter ruled in every quarter with an imperious and inſulting tone, gathering ſtrength, and committing the exceſſes (of which we have already heard) at the time the Royal Family embarked.

From papers brought by the Venus, arrived at Boston from Liverpool.

STRASBURG, March 9.

The Auſtrian army, under Prince Charles, is in active movement. Nine battalions have already paſſed the Lech. The 6th, his head-quarters was at Augſburg, [in Suabia.]

The head-quarters of Gen. Jourdan, were the 8th, at Bidigen, on the Danube, [about 20 leagues from Prince Charles' head quarters.]

Gen. St. Cyr, who commands the left of Jourdan's army, has advanced a column to Tubingen, [in the Dutchy of Wirtemberg, about 25 leagues from Augſburg.] Jourdan has between 40 and 50,000 men; one third levies. Bernadotte has 20,000.

March 10.

The Auſtrian army continues to croſs the Lech, advancing towards ours. The front of the Auſtrian line may be known by drawing a line from Wurtzburg, in Franconia, to the Lake Conſtance, through Ulm, Mindelheim, and Kempton. The advance of the French, at this time, may be ſeen, by a line from Schaffhouſen, in Switzerland, to Manheim on the Rhine. [The diſtance, generally, from 20 to 30 leagues.]

The French army at Manheim, is an army of obſervation; to take advantages of circumſtances.

March 12.

Jourdan's centre is at Moeſkirch. The left wing will not (in conſequence of the occurrences in Switzerland) march through Tubingen, as was firſt ordered. It will march towards Switzerland.

The Helvetian troops are advancing towards the Empire. Maſſena's head-quarters are between Zurich and St. Gal, [in Switzerland]; the left of his army is at Lake Conſtance; the right in the Griſon country, extending near ten leagues.

THE AUSTRIAN ARMY

In Batavia numbers 115,000 men, independent of the Ruſſian columns which are advancing; 80,000 are in advance of the Lech. They are repreſented in fine order, and are animated with the beſt diſpoſitions. The light-infantry are very complete; and are ſwelled with volunteers. At Ulm, on the 6th, 120 pieces of artillery were collected. The Ruſſians are directed to take forced marches;—and waggons and horſes are every where impreſſed, to forward the troops, &c. to the ſcene of action; which in all probability will be between the Danube and the Lech.

The Arch-Duke has addreſſed his army in General Orders, in the moſt animating manner—charges the French with numberleſs aggreſſions; and expects his troops to vindicate the honor, and ſave the Empire from ſlavery.

If Gen. Hotze had not eggaged Maſſena, the advanced corps of Jourdan's and Prince Charles' army, would have met at Memmingen yeſterday, and decided the fate of Ulm.

LONDON, March 23.

On the 21ſt a ſquadron of ſix ſail of the line, left Yarmouth, for the coaſt of Holland.

RATISBON, March 10.

The votes of the Diet of the Empire, on the ſubject of the march of the Ruſſian troops, are in decided oppoſition to the wiſhes of the French.

The garriſon of Ulm, is commanded by Field-Marſhal Kerper, and is compoſed of 10,000 picked troops.

The Emperor, as well as the King of Great-Britain, has ſent a ſpecial Ambaſſador to the Pruſſian Court.

The King of Pruſſia appears obſtinately bent on preſerving his neutrality. He will not he ſays, connect himſelf with Auſtria.

Gen. Suwarrow, who is upwards of 60 years of age, is to command the united Imperial forces, which are to act in Italy.

The Spaniſh ſquadron which ſome time ſince ſlipped out of Cadiz, hath returned, after landing 3000 troops at the Canaries.

A Ruſſian ſquadron of ſeven ſail of the line has arrived at Palermo, in Sicily with troops.

Naples is blockaded by a ſquadron of Lord Nelſon's fleet.

The French who have paſſed the Rhine, have impoſed the moſt heavy contributions. Heidelbourg had to pay 100,000 livres in 12 hours.

The late King of Sardinia, and family have ſailed from Leghorn for Raguſa, convoyed by the Engliſh frigate Terpſichore, Capt. Gore.

Two Embaſſadors have been ſent from the Neapolitan Republic to Paris.—Prince Moliterni is one.

The French Legiſlature has aboliſhed privateering; and ordered all their privateerſmen on board the Breſt fleet.

Enormous quantities of ſpecie are continually ſent out of Holland to Hamburg, from whence it finds way to England.

Six hundred of the Iriſh rebels have been tranſported—400 to the Weſt Indies; 200 for Minorca.

The O'Connors, Emmet, Nelſon, and twelve other ſtate priſoners, on the 9th inſt. ſailed for Fort George, in Inverneſhire; to be confined there.

The United Anglo Iriſhmen, who have been detected, and frequently examined before the Privy, Council, had ripened their plot almoſt to exploſion. The papers found on them, and which Parliament have publiſhed, demonſtrate the extent and turpitude of the conſpiracy.

Phillipſburg holds out. It is garriſoned with 2000 choice troops of the Empire. It will if attacked be defended vigorouſly.

The Commandant and gen. Bernadotte, verbally agreed not to commence hoſtilities untill further orders.

BOSTON, May 18.

Ireland will again become an object of attention. All the energies of the Britiſh and Iriſh Governments were in operation to defend it againſt external invaſion; and to eradicate every fibre of internal rebellion.

From Havanna.

The Britiſh fleet has left the blockade of this port; and the galleons arrived a few days after from Vera Cruz with an immenſe quantity of dollars. A money fleet has ſailed from Spain.

A bill paſſed the Britiſh Parliament for preventing the exportation of copper; as the Admiralty found it difficult to procure that article for the ſhip yards.—In the laſt ſix months it roſe 20 per cent. in price.

Samuel Snow, Eſq. Conſul of the United States, at Canton, has arrived there.

We learn that the Boſton frigate will be launched on Monday next, if foul weather ſhould not intervene.

The Intelligence of the capture of the Inſurgente, was received with the greateſt pleaſure in England.

IMPORTANT!

BALTIMORE, May 21.

A letter from a gentleman in Norfolk, dated May 17, to his friend in this city, received yeſterday, contains the following

IMPORTANT INFORMATION:

"The ſhip Mary-Ann, monnting 16 guns, and manned with 51 hands, arrived here yeſterday from the river La Plata; ſhe was furniſhed with a letter of marque, and 7 days ſince in the Gulph Stream, was engaged by a French brig of 10 guns and 117 men all mulattoes and negroes, except the firſt lieutenant, who is an American, a native of Barnſtable in Maſſachuſetts. The engagement laſted two hours, during which nine Americans were killed and wounded, and 17 of the negroes. At length the Mary-Ann got ſo completely athwart her bows, that every ſhot raked her fore and aft, when the tri-colored flag was hauled down and ſhe yielded to the ſuperior bravery of American ſeamen.

"After taking poſſeſſion of her, ſhe proved to be Le Generoux, of Guadaloupe; but contrary to all other privateers, was deeply loaded with guns, piſtols, daggers, flints, cutlaſſes, and all other military ſtores and implements. The captain of the Mary-Ann took out what men he could ſtow, and put the reſt in irons, of which he found plenty in the prize; he alſo put 21 men on board her, and ordered her for the firſt port in the United States which ſhe could make. What renders the ſituation of this prize the more particular, is that ſhe had no commiſſion, or any papers, nor could the Americans learn, even from their priſoners, where ſhe was bound, or to what purpoſe her cargo was to be appropriated. Her letters were all thrown overboard, except one, which, through hurry was left in the cheſt of a paſſenger; this letter is addreſſed to an eminent perſonage in Georgia, and on account of its important contents, was ſent on, as ſoon as the Mary-Ann arrived, by expreſs to the ſecretary of ſtate."

The Gazette.

PHILADELPHIA,

THURSDAY EVENING, MAY 23.

THE underſigned Secretary of State of his Britannic Majeſty has received his Majeſty's commands to acquaint Mr. King, Miniſter Plenipotentiary of the United States of America, that the King, judging it expedient to avail himſelf of the ſuperiority of his Naval Forces for the defence of his dominions, has ſignified his commands to the Lord's Commiſſioners of the Admiralty, to cauſe the moſt rigorous blockade to be eſtabliſhed at the entrance of all the ports of Holland, which will be maintained and enforced in the ſtricteſt manner, according to the uſages of war, acknowledged and obſerved in ſimilar caſes.

Mr. King is therefore requeſted to apprize the American Conſuls and Merchants reſiding in England, that the above mentioned ports of the United Provinces are, and muſt be conſidered as being in a ſtate of blockade, and that from this time no neutral veſſel can be ſuffered to enter them upon any conſideration, or under any pretence whatſoever: and that all the meaſures authorized by the law of nations, and the reſpective treaties between his Majeſty, and the different neutral powers, will henceforth be adopted and executed, with reſpect to veſſels deſtined for the ſaid ports, or ſuch as ſhall attempt to enter them after this notice.

A true copy from the files of the Department of State of the United States.

JACOB WAGNER, Ch. Clk.

By a letter from Havannah, dated the 10th of May, advice is received of a new Governor having arrived at the other ſide of the iſland, from Spain, and that he was expected there on the 12th—that the change was quite unexpected, and had very much ſurpriſed the inhabitants, as the old Governor's time was not expired.

The ſame letter adviſes, the actual prices of ſugars to be 9 dollars for brown and 11 for white—and that flour was down to 10 dollars per barrel; beef and pork 5 and 10 per barrel, and parcels ſhipped back to America. No kind of goods in demand, and money not to be got for any thing.

COMMUNICATION.

IN the Aurora of yeſterday the faction, of which that paper is the organ, are expreſsly called upon to aſſociate themſelves in the military corps, not for the purpoſe of defending their country from foreign invaſion; not with a view to ſupport their government againſt the machinations of domeſtic traitors but avowedly in order to act againſt the Friends of Government. Under the authority of Duane himſelf, it is ſtated that to accompliſh this object, conſiderable acceſſions of ſtrength have already been made to the Militia Companies; and that a band of Jacobins mount guard every evening at his office. By the ſame paper it appears that "Committees of Arrangement, as they are called, for the City, Northern Liberties, and Southwark" meet at the ſame place. Thus it appears that all their deſperate plans are formed, their means collecting; and their forces nearly organized. That their confidence in their own power has greatly increaſed is made evident by this deſperate avowal of their bloody intentions. Heretofore indeed theſe men have exiſted, though their real views have been concealed under the cloak of a deſire to operate againſt the common enemy; but now in the fulneſs of their audacity they boldly proclaim the end they have always really aimed at. To oppoſe ſo formidable a phalanx of perfidy and iniquity, what are our means, our preparations or reſources. Are we tamely to ſubmit to the dagger and the bayonet, without even an attempt at reſiſtance? Are we to wait until bound hand and foot, before we even endeavour to exert ourſelves? Are we individually content to be marked out for future revenge and ſlaughtered without even wiſhing to pare the nails or to cut off the claws of this daring Banditti.

The Iriſh Rebellion has been nearly quelled. How? Not by ſuffering the rebels to mature their ſchemes in ſafety; but by hunting them from their kennels and forcing them to reſiſtance, before the moment of their readineſs. The alluſion is obvious and the example ought to be profitable.

Duane ſays that during the horſe-whipping he received t'other day the "people who ſtood looking with dumb aſtoniſhment were heard to murmur aloud!! Will this blundering bull maker again tell us he is an American?

The ſame paddy whack ſays that as he was "lying ſenſeleſs" he received a kick.—If ſenſeleſs lying is to be his ſecurity he has an inſurmountable rampart to defend him.

The Merchants and Underwriters of Lloyd's Coffee Houſe, London, have agreed to preſent a ſuperb piece of Plate to Capt. TRUXTON, for his gallant conduct in the capture of the French frigate, Inſurgent.

May 12, ſaw a brig near the Florida ſhore, appear in diſtreſs, with two ſmall veſſels aſſiſting her, the wind and ſea being on ſhore, could not learn her name. 18th was chaſed by a frigate for 7 or 8 hours; and was finally, after ſeveral ſhot, obliged to heave too; was boarded and informed the frigate was the United States. I obſerved ſhe had decreaſed much ſince I ſaw her in the Delaware. However, a ſchooner coming up, they fired a gun, hoiſted Engliſh colors and boarded her—after examining my papers and preſſing me to receive ſome Spaniſh priſoners, which I refuſed, they wiſhed me a good paſſage, and diſmiſſed me.
